Some people hurt themselves at work, but 73-year-old Larry Ransom found that upon his retirement his joints hurt from not working. So now Larry is enjoying moving past the golden anniversary of his painting business and the opportunity to brighten the colors for a new generation as he qualified for a contract with the NJ School Construction Corporation.

Working with Director Lorraine Allen at The College of New Jersey SBDC, Larry diligently came to the office morning after morning to complete his paperwork and application for secured a contract of $28,000 for starters.

Lorraine said that his story exemplified that with patience and persistence and working with the SBDC you can learn and achieve anything at any age.
